Song 1 Like a weaned child

Psalm 131 is a short but powerful Song of Ascents. The psalmist declares a heart free from pride and haughtiness, choosing instead to calm his soul like a weaned child resting on its mother — a picture of childlike trust and contentment in God.

Like a weaned child resting against its mother,
So I have calmed and quieted my soul.

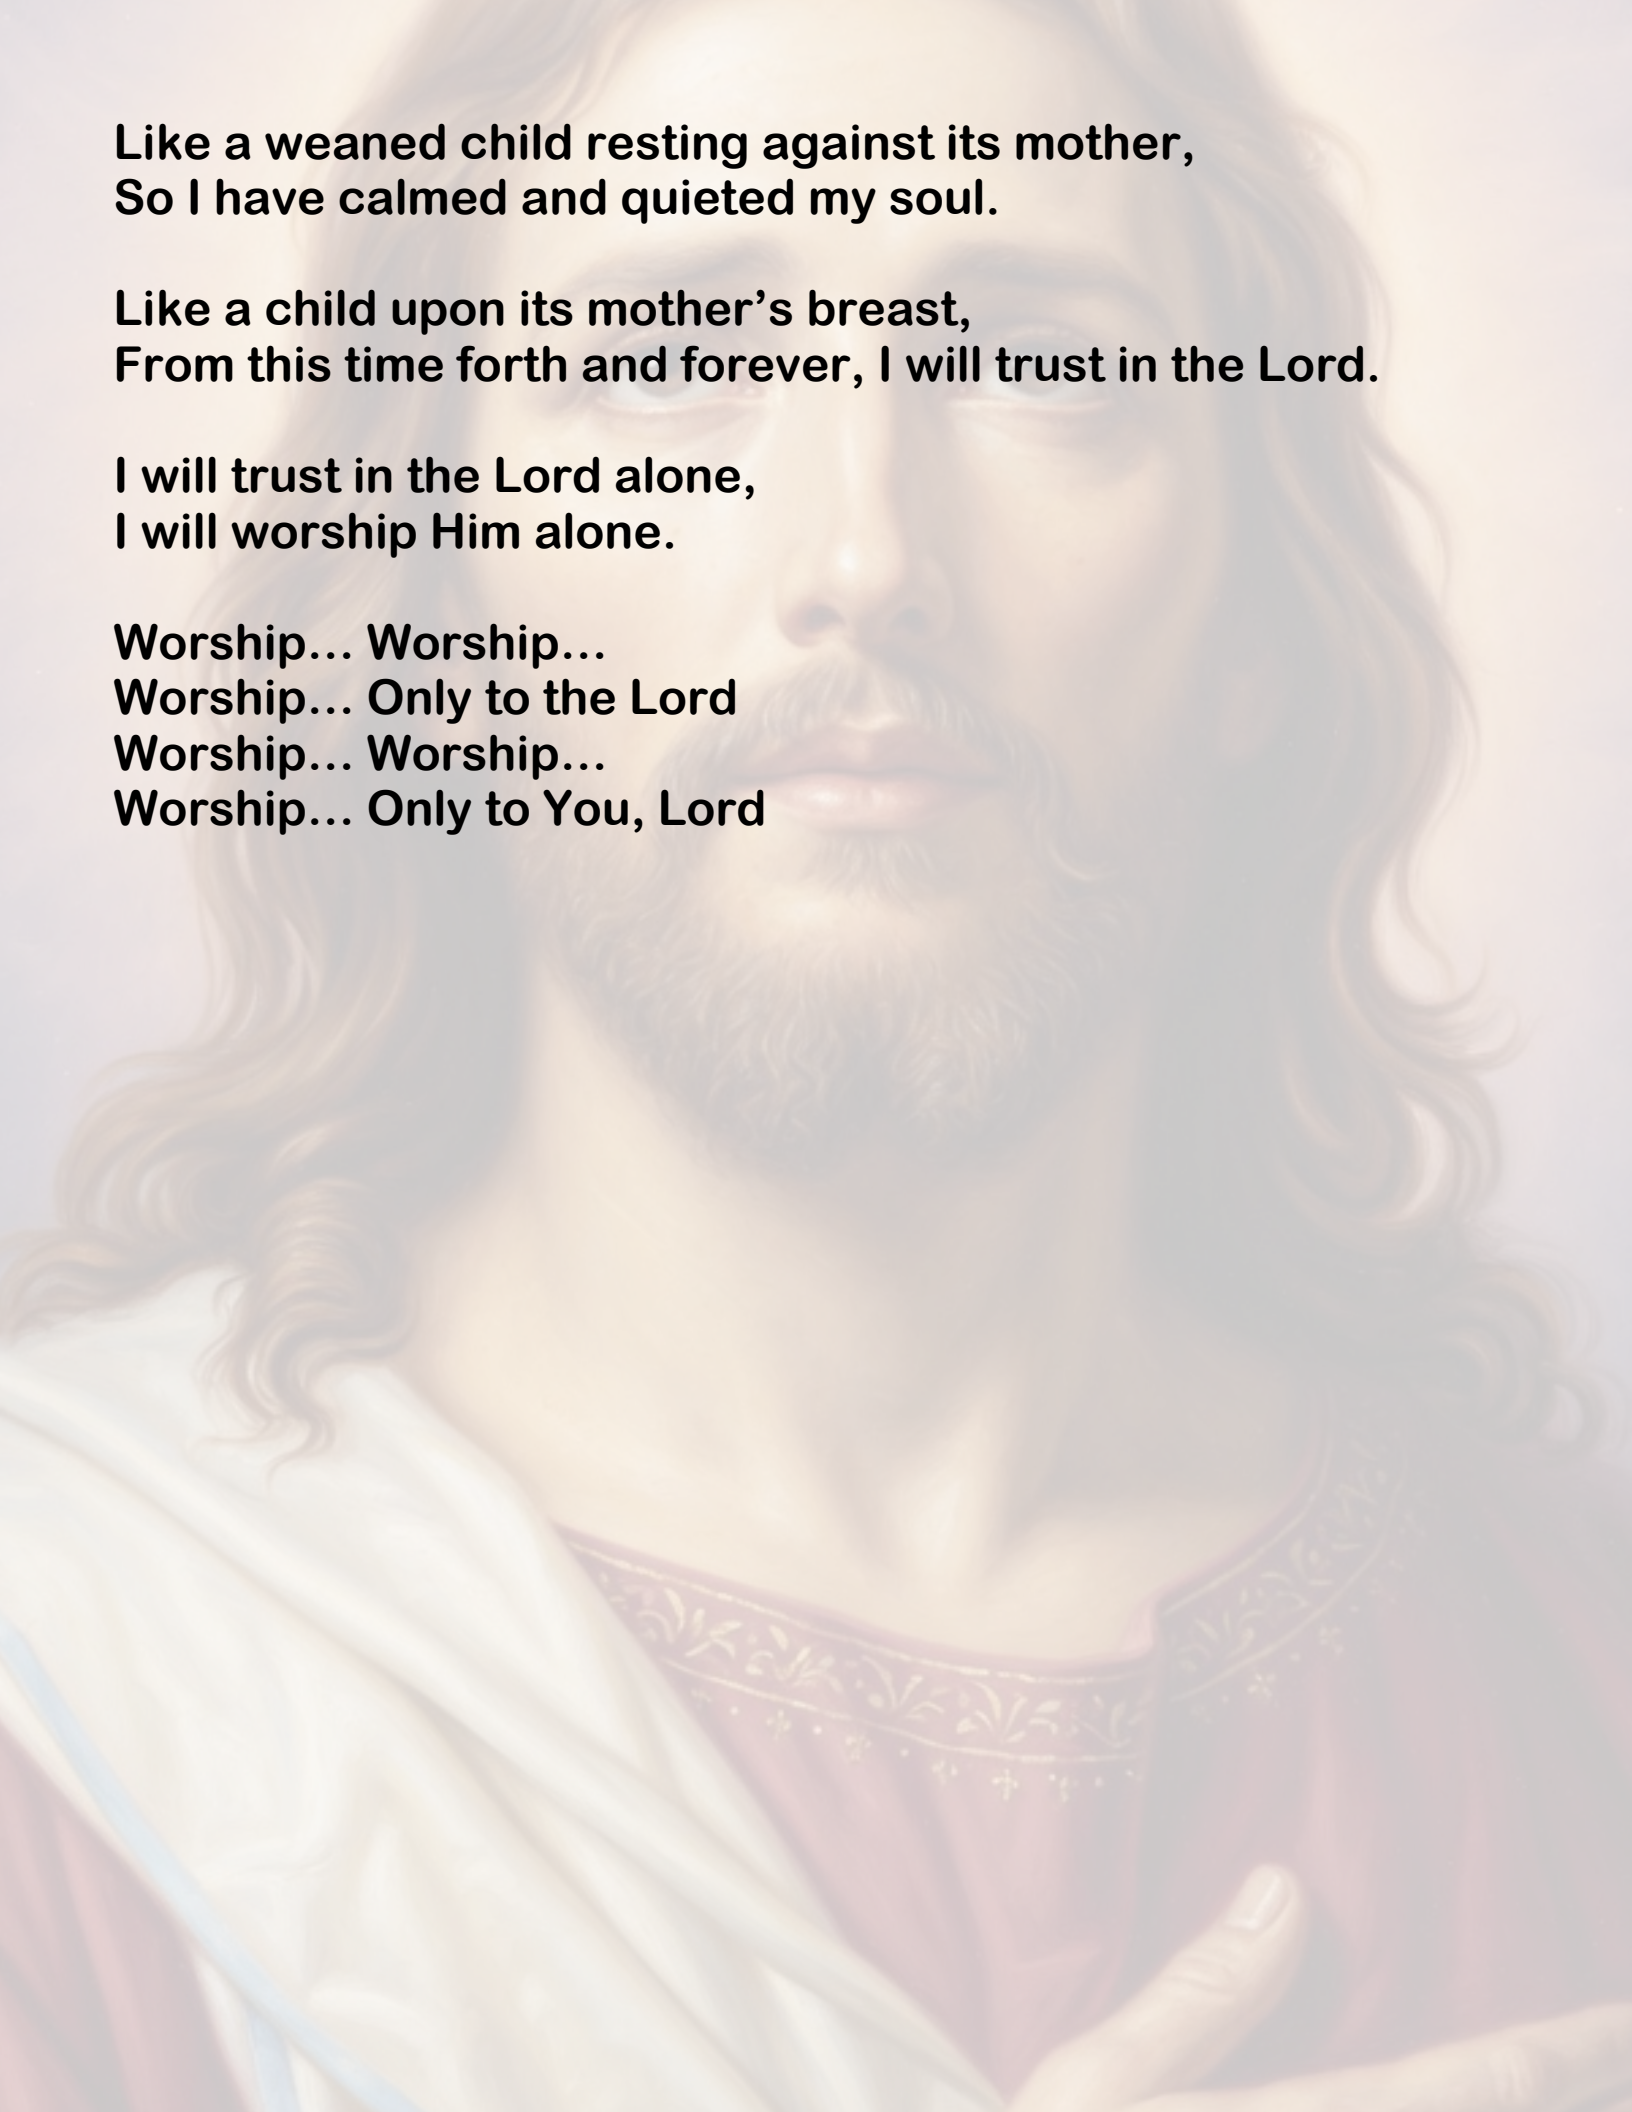

Like a child upon its mother's breast,
From this time forth and forever, I will trust in the Lord.

My heart is not proud,
My eyes are not haughty.
My heart is not proud,
My eyes are not haughty.

Like a weaned child resting against its mother,
So I have calmed and quieted my soul.

Like a child upon its mother's breast,
From this time forth and forever, I will trust in the Lord.

I do not concern myself with great matters,
Nor with things too wonderful for me.
I do not concern myself with great matters,
Nor with things too wonderful for me.

Like a weaned child resting against its mother,
So I have calmed and quieted my soul.

Like a child upon its mother's breast,
From this time forth and forever, I will trust in the Lord.

I will trust in the Lord alone,
I will worship Him alone.

Worship... Worship...
Worship... Only to the Lord
Worship... Worship...
Worship... Only to You, Lord
